Learning together

Taking into account every form of learning, beyond the field of Education, benefit persons whatever their age or situation, and particularly those facing difficulties. Our projects are aiming at creating a European Lifelong Learning Space.

Projects TILL and Cokleeco

Finding paths to work thanks to social media

Learning to learn is a prerequisite to acquire new competencies essential to adapt to the changes. This is leading the initiatives to explore new paths toward employment, especially cooperation between actors of job accompaniment for young people.

Research Actions

Knowing each other's through mobility

Lifelong Learning can adopt multiple forms for learners of all ages. Mobility enables exchange of practices, thus fostering a hybridisation of cultures, constructed in diverse local contexts. It enables young apprentices in vocational training to acquire professional skills and also transversal skills, which are increasingly sought in the professional world.

Projects Re-Frame, Key Mob and D'ahoy

Living together in peace

Learning to live together and build more social cohesions to face the turmoil linked to technological change and globalisation, rejection of others and identitarian closure. We are working together in a European Lab for Education inspiring Peace.
